The way out of the cements maze

The Cementation Navigation System, a new multimedia application from Ivoclar Vivadent, offers dentists practical orientation and guidance in the selection of the best luting material for each case.

Today, dental professionals can choose from a wide variety of materials when it comes to the fabrication and cementation of indirect restorations. Very frequently, however, the ideal combination for each case is difficult to find. The Cementation Navigation System, a new multimedia application from Ivoclar Vivadent, offers dentists straightforward guidance in the selection of cements and helps them identify the optimum solution. The Cementation Navigation System is easy to understand and supports users in making the right choice for each indication as far as the luting material is concerned. Detailed animations provide comprehensive information on the application of the material chosen – right from the removal of the temporary restoration to the final fluoridation procedure.

More than 200 animations demonstrating product usage

The multimedia tool contains more than 200 detailed step-by-step animated clips involving one temporary luting cement and six permanent luting cements and offers an extensive download area.

The Cementation Navigation System can be accessed via the Internet at www.cementation-navigation.com. Alternatively, it is available as DVD or, from summer 2011 onwards, as app through the iTunes Store.
